We also did a Black history exhibit in the public library. Our big public awareness program for the public and schools was a three day seminar and military re-enactment about the 75th anniversary of Camp Bowie, a WW II training camp and prisoner of war camp. It took over a year to plan. We hosted a program for the Texas Forts Trail regional seminar. The schools sent buses to these events. We collected African American history for the genealogy research library. We had volunteers to work with the Early Pioneer days. We hosted learning days at the Brown County Museum of History. Brown county

Some of the improvements that we had this year was in attendance at museum training workshops and archival storage training

We try to recruit members from all around the county, to cover all museum and historical associations and cover all the cultures in the area. However, we get a lot of promises but people don't follow through. We have difficulty getting participants from some cultures. we do more research about their history than we do. We got some participation this year for historical marker research this year for the Emanuel Chapel Methodist Church. Our county history research is very lacking in African American History. We have done an historical marker for the African American Episcopal Church in the past with a lot of history of African American Citizens. This year we were able to collect a large file of African American history for the genealogical research library. We actually got some groups involved to share family histories. We got the Hardin Museum to name more board members and get active again. This is for the creation of a Black history exhibit in the Black school building that will house a community center and history exhibit. It has been pared down from the original black history museum. We have a maker about the Hardin School (a black school during segregation) and we have worked with the group to get several grants to stop the deterioration of the building and preserve. Now the group is meeting again to begin the process for the exhibit and use of the building. We got a lot of publicity this year form our events and questions from the public about our projects.

PAGE 27: Project Description #2 (of 3) for CHC work from 2015

Q54: Project Description #2—Share a project, effort, or service that shows the best of how your CHC interacts with the public. Please include your county name in the answer. Project, effort, or service must adhere to the following requirements:— its primary association is with history/preservation— it has broad CHC appointee support (rather than the participation of only 1 or 2 people)— is an ongoing effort or one that was completed in 2015

Several of our members have been working along with the Zephyr Historical Association for several years to save and restore old buildings from Zephyr. This has involved moving the old school house and the old post office to a location where the community center is (Old Zephyr Presbyterian Church --see the topic historical marker) We have gotten old wind mills and farm equipment moved to the location. We have gotten the rock from the old bank donated if we can find a picture to go by to re-create it. One of our members is the project manager and the whole project is her efforts. Other members have been researching the history and helping to apply for grants and going to the commissioners for support. Part of the same project has been witching out graves at the old town site location. We knew of a plaque saying there were 3 graves there, and we knew of possibly 3-4 more. One of our members has been witching out graves there and has found about 30 graves. The problem is that the graves and the old fair grounds are on private property and we have had several members working with the county surveyor to get access. We are also working with the county commissioner and TxDot to save a metal truss bridge also at the location. We have had several members working with fund raisers and getting grants. We have gotten donations of chain link fence to go up around the location and to get labor to put it up. The town of Zephyr is very small compared to what it used to be and we want to save what we can while it is available

Q55: Project Description #3—Expand upon your CHC's contribution to heritage tourism efforts in your region. Refer to question 36 for heritage tourism examples. Highlight your most effective heritage tourism effort in 2015:— your county name— describe event and your role in it— partners and community involvement in planning and/or implementation— impact of the event (attendance, participation, profit, etc.)

Brown County.

This was the result of a two year project for the 75th anniversary of Camp Bowie, a WW II training camp. We held a 3 day seminar at Howard Payne University. We had a co-chair from Tarleton university. We got HPU professors and HPU staff involved. We did tours of the Camp Bowie area and the buildings that are still there. We had a lot of support from the public, media, schools, HPU students, civic groups, Brown County Museum of History, and others. We had a military re-enactment with groups from schools present. We had 10 of our members involved. one of our members was the main originator, planner, and organizer of the event. We had about 75 participants in the seminar from a wide region. We had about 200 participants with the military re-enactments including students. We had about 50 involved in the tours, and countless people who read the press release information. We had TV and radio involved. We told the story of Camp Bowie to new generations who didn't know the meaning of it. We ended up with a much expanded exhibit in the Brown County Museum of History to tell the story of Camp Bowie and WW II to visitors, especially students who wouldn't have know about the story before. We had participation from the city manager of Brownwood, the Brownwood and Early Chambers of Commerce, the economic development corporation, the Brown County historical society, the different museums in the county and other historical associations, the schools, two colleges, the national guard, etc.

PAGE 29: CHC Comments for the THC

Q56: Please let us know more about your preservation successes and/or challenges.

The city of Brownwood has a vigorous campaign to tear down older houses that set vacant for awhile. In the last ten years we have lost probably 200 from the 1940's and 1950's and earlier, wood frame houses with ship lap siding, because they "no longer meet code requirements." We would like to get grants to allow the home owners or others who would like to by the houses to fix up.

We have been able to get more publicity and more participation with the public and contractor to call for information We have been trying for years to save the early 1900s hotel (10 floors) that the city of Brownwood would have already torn down except for the cost of imploding it. ($60,000.00 - $90,000.00) .It has set vacant since 1980. The windows are falling out etc.

We are loosing a lot of older people from WW II era without getting their stories told.
