JILL EVANS:

Jill Evans has served on the Child Welfare Board in the past and is seeking to rejoin the board. She is currently the marketing director at AccelHealth and has seen children in all walks of life throughout her career. She spent years working with Family Services Center and is also active with other non-profits in the community. She wants to help educate the community on child abuse and how to prevent it in our area. She seeks to aid the board in fundraising to support the kids and public relations. She has a heart for helping in the community and wants to see wonderful things accomplished.

CINDY NIBLETT:

Cindy Niblett is a licensed master social worker and currently works for Brownwood Regional Medical Center. Cindy has an extensive background in the social service industry. She completed her social work internship with child protective services, has worked for adult protective services, as well as worked with Center for Life for seventeen years. She wants to join the board because she cares about the children growing up in our community and wants to make a difference. She believes that working together, we can all make some good things happen. She also adopted her daughter out of foster care at 11 months old who has special needs.
