Good Morning,

I sent you both this email last Thursday, March 14 requesting an approval by Friday, March 15. We did not receive an approval from either of you, therefore the commissioners tabled the approval of the election judges and their alternates until Monday, March 25.

I understand that the time frame I requested was a short turnaround.

I need your approval of the attached list of election judges and their alternates this week so that we can once again present it to the commissioners court.

Please respond to this email so that we have either your approval or denial in writing.
